

Omaha's Vibrant Central Core

Improved transit options linking activity centers together and to the rest of the city are needed to improve mobility, support sustainable growth and revitalization, and attract economic development in order to become a truly livable community.

